NEW: Valid advanced training diploma status

Continuous medical education is a mandatory process for us doctors. In order to ease the process of certification the SIWF/ISFM has build a very simple platform to self-generate your certificates of continuous medical education. Login to myFMH and then follow the links to "continuous medical education". You need to declare at least 150 CME over a period of 3 years. Of the 50 CME per year at least 25 CME must be recognized by the SSSC and a maximum of 25 CME can be from educational events as long as those are recognized by the SIWF/ISFM.

Please be aware as from January 2020 onwards, the possession of a CME certification might become visible on the medical registry of Switzerland website: www.medregom.admin.ch. Check out your current situation under myFMH and on the Medregom site. Also please be aware that not fulfilling the duty of the certification process every 3 years might lead to a no-reimbursement situation by the health insurances.
